

How We Use Cookies

Like many websites we use cookies to store and then retrieve small bits of information on your computer when you visit. This information is used to make the site work as you expect it to. It is not personally identifiable to you, but it can be used to give you a more personalised web experience.

Some cookies are put there by other companies whose software we have added to the site, and this can also impact your experience of other websites you may visit after leaving ours.

If you continue to use this site without taking action to prevent the storage of this information, you are effectively agreeing to this use.

If you want to learn more about the general uses of cookies, including how to stop them being stored by your computer, please visit Cookiepedia - all about cookies.

Below is a list of the different types of cookies used on this site, and an explanation of what they are used for.

If you would like any more information, please get in touch.

Strictly Necessary Cookies

These cookies are necessary for the website to function. They are only set in response to actions made by you which amount to a request for services, such as logging in or filling in forms.

Analytics Cookies

These cookies allow us to count page views and traffic sources so we can better understand how visitors discover and make use of our website. All information derived by use of these cookies is aggregated and therefore anonymous.

Performance Cookies

Performance cookies are used to analyse and understand the key performance indexes of the website, such as page load times. This helps us understand how the website is performing and where we can optimise to provide a better user experience for our visitors. All information derived by use of these cookies is aggregated and therefore anonymous.

Functionality Cookies

These cookies enable the website to provide enhanced functionality and personalisation such as displaying the nearest regional phone number or content in your preferred language. They may be set by us or by third party providers whose services we have added to our pages. These cookies do not store any personally identifiable information, but are used to save preferences in your internet browser, such as your preferred country or language.

Targeting Cookies

These cookies may be set through our site by us or our advertising partners. They may be used to build a profile of your interests and show you relevant advertisements on other sites.

They do not store any personally identifiable information, but are based on uniquely identifying your browser and internet device.

How to control cookies

You can accept or reject cookies by amending your web browser controls. Some parts of our site might not work properly or at all if you decide to reject cookies.

You can manage your cookie settings by following your browser's instructions.

Here are some links that might be of assistance:

Google Chrome: Clear, enable, and manage cookies in Chrome

Mozilla Firefox: Enable and disable cookies that websites use to track your preferences

Safari: Clear cookies in Safari on Mac

Microsoft Edge: Delete cookies in Microsoft Edge